

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRPERSON OF THE MANITOBA LABOUR BOARD

I am pleased to submit the 2011/12 Annual Report outlining the activities of the Manitoba Labour Board for the period April 1, 2011 to March 31, 2012.

During this reporting period, the Board successfully fulfilled its mandate and met its immediate objectives. The staff of the Board will continue to focus on the strategic priorities which are highlighted in this report.

During this reporting period, the Board issued a number of important decisions under both The Labour Relations Act and other statutes which it administers. This is evident from the decisions which are summarized in this report. The full text of these decisions are posted on the Board's website.

On May 17, 18 and 19, 2011, the Board held its bi-annual seminar for board members and board officers in Gimli, Manitoba. A wide range of issues were on the agenda. There were presentations on a number of practical topics, presented by the registrar and the board officers. A panel, comprised of vice-chairperson Diane Jones, Q.C. and others, conducted a discussion on managing cases which involve self-represented litigants. As the Board hears many cases involving self-represented litigants, particularly under The Employment Standards Code, it is always useful to revisit this issue because of the difficulties which cases involving self-represented litigants case can raise for the Board. Further, there was a presentation by the Workplace Safety and Health assistant deputy minister Don Hurst and their director of Prevention Services Jo-Anna Guerra, on Workplace Safety and Health's new jurisdiction under the expanded definition of what conduct constitutes harassment in the workplace and on new initiatives regarding the proactive enforcement of The Workplace Safety and Health Act. This presentation was most timely because it provided the members and officers with a "heads-up" on areas which the Board will undoubtedly be called upon to adjudicate in the future. The seminar was an unqualified success not only from an educational perspective but also because it provided members with the opportunity to interact with each other in an informal setting.

During this year, the Board experienced an increase in its workload, particularly in respect of the number of appeals filed under The Employment Standards Code. The number of applications filed with the Board under the Code increased by 48 percent and many of these cases involved unique or complex issues. The overall increase in workload was reflected by the number of Written Reasons for Decision and Substantive Orders that were issued by the Board during 2011/12.

Finally, I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the vice-chairpersons, members and staff for their dedication and service to the Board.

William D. Hamilton
Chairperson

MESSAGE DU PRÉSIDENT DE LA COMMISSION DU TRAVAIL DU MANITOBA

J'ai le plaisir de soumettre le rapport annuel 2011-2012 faisant état des activités de la Commission du travail du Manitoba pour la période allant du 1<sup>er</sup> avril 2011 au 31 mars 2012.

Au cours de cette période de déclaration, la Commission a respecté son mandat et rempli ses objectifs immédiats. Le personnel de la Commission continuera de mettre l'accent sur les priorités stratégiques dont il est question dans le présent rapport.

Pendant l'exercice, La Commission a rendu plusieurs décisions importantes en vertu de la Loi sur les relations du travail et des autres lois qu'elle administre, comme le montrent les résumés des décisions présentés dans le présent rapport. Le texte complet de ces décisions est affiché sur le site Web de la Commission.

Les 17, 18 et 19 mai 2011, la Commission a tenu son colloque semestriel pour ses membres et agents à Gimli, au Manitoba. Un grand nombre de sujets figuraient à l'ordre du jour. La registraire et les agents de la Commission ont fait une présentation humoristique, divertissante et informative portant sur plusieurs sujets pratiques. Un groupe d'experts, composé de la vice-présidente, Diane Jones, c.r., et d'autres personnes, a animé une discussion sur la gestion des affaires où il est question de plaideurs agissant pour leur propre compte. Comme la Commission entend un grand nombre d'affaires où les plaideurs comparaissent sans avocat, particulièrement en vertu du Code des normes d'emploi, il est toujours utile de réexaminer ce sujet étant donné les difficultés que cela peut poser à la Commission. De plus, il y a eu une présentation conjointe par M. Don Hurst, sous-ministre adjoint et directeur de la Division de la sécurité et de l'hygiène du travail, et M<sup>me</sup> Jo-Anna Guerra, directrice des Services de prévention de la Division, portant sur les nouveaux pouvoirs de la Division compte tenu de la définition élargie des comportements constituant du harcèlement dans un lieu de travail, et les nouvelles initiatives concernant l'application proactive de la Loi sur la sécurité et l'hygiène du travail. La présentation est arrivée à point, car elle a donné aux membres et aux agents un aperçu des sujets sur lesquels la Commission sera appelée à se prononcer dans le futur. Le colloque s'est avéré un franc succès, non seulement d'un point de vue éducatif, mais aussi parce qu'il a donné aux membres l'occasion d'interagir dans un cadre informel, rehaussant ainsi l'atmosphère collégial existant déjà au sein de la Commission.

Au cours de l'exercice, la Commission a dû faire face à une charge de travail accrue, tout particulièrement en raison du nombre d'appels interjetés en vertu du Code des normes d'emploi. Le nombre de demandes déposées auprès de la Commission en vertu du Code a augmenté de 48 %, et beaucoup de celles-ci avaient trait à des situations uniques ou complexes. L'augmentation globale de la charge de travail a été reflétée dans le nombre accru de motifs écrits de décision et d'ordonnances importantes rendues par la Commission au cours de 2011-2012.

En conclusion, je tiens à remercier de leurs services et de leur dévouement les vice-présidents, les membres et le personnel de la Commission.

Le président
William D. Hamilton

- (e) cease an activity that constitutes the reprisal;
- (f) rectify a situation resulting from the reprisal;

Field Services

Field Services is comprised of the registrar, four labour relations officers, one board officer and one board clerk. Reporting to the chairperson, the registrar is the official responsible for the supervision of the day-to-day field activities of the Board. The primary responsibility of the registrar is the development and execution of the administrative workload as it relates to the various acts under which the Board derives its adjudicative powers. The registrar, in conjunction with the chairperson, vice chairpersons and panel members, is involved in the establishment of Board practice and policy. Applications filed with the Board are processed through the registrar's office, which ensures each application is processed efficiently, with hearings scheduled in a timely manner and in accordance with the Manitoba Labour Board Rules of Procedure and Board practice. The registrar, together with the board officers, communicates with all parties and with the public regarding Board policies, procedures and jurisprudence.

Reporting to the registrar are four "labour relations" board officers who are responsible for dealing with various cases and conducting investigations pertaining to the applications filed with the Board, under the varying statutes. They can be appointed to act as Board representatives in an endeavour to effect settlement between parties, reducing the need for costly hearings. The board officers act as returning officers in Board conducted representation votes, attend hearings and assist the registrar in the processing of various applications. They also play a conciliatory role when assisting parties in concluding a first or subsequent collective agreement and they act as mediators during the dispute resolution process. Also reporting to the registrar is a board officer, primarily responsible for processing all referrals from the Director of the Employment Standards Branch and who is involved in mediation efforts in an attempt to resolve the issues. The board clerk is primarily responsible for the processing of expedited arbitration referrals, and maintaining the Board's library of collective agreements and union constitution and by-laws files. Both the board officer and board clerk also attend Board hearings.

Administrative Services

The staff of administrative services and field services work closely to ensure the expeditious processing of applications. Administrative services is comprised of the administrative officer and five administrative support staff. Reporting to the chairperson, the administrative officer is responsible for the day-to-day administrative support of the Board, fiscal control and accountability of operational expenditures and the development and monitoring of office systems and procedures to ensure departmental and government policies are implemented.

Reporting to the administrative officer are four administrative secretaries responsible for the processing of documentation. Also reporting to the administrative officer is the information clerk who is responsible for the case management system and files and responds to information requests from legal counsel, educators and the labour community for name searches, collective agreements and certificates.

Research Services

Reporting to the chairperson, the researcher is responsible for providing reports, statistical data, jurisprudence from other provincial jurisdictions and undertaking other research projects as required by the Board. # PERFORMANCE REPORTING

Summary of Performance

The Manitoba Labour Board adjudicated employer-employee disputes referred to it under various provincial statutes and its decisions established policy, procedures and precedent and provided for a more sound, harmonious labour relations environment. The Board conducted formal hearings; however, a significant portion of the Board's workload was administrative in nature. When possible, the Board encouraged the settlement of disputes in an informal manner by appointing one of its board officers to mediate outstanding issues and complaints. The Board monitored its internal processes to improve efficiencies and expedite processing of applications or referrals.

The number of applications filed with the Manitoba Labour Board during the past 5 years (for the period April 1 to March 31) is indicated in the chart below, with hours of work applications shown separately from The Employment Standards Code.

THE PUBLIC INTEREST DISCLOSURE (WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION) ACT

The Public Interest Disclosure (Whistleblower Protection) Act came into effect in April 2007. This law gives employees a clear process for disclosing concerns about significant and serious matters (wrongdoing) in the Manitoba public service, and strengthens protection from reprisal. The Act builds on protections already in place under other statutes, as well as collective bargaining rights, policies, practices and processes in the Manitoba public service.

Wrongdoing under the Act may be: contravention of federal or provincial legislation; an act or omission that endangers public safety, public health or the environment; gross mismanagement; or, knowingly directing or counselling a person to commit a wrongdoing. The Act is not intended to deal with routine operational or administrative matters.

A disclosure made by an employee in good faith, in accordance with the Act, and with a reasonable belief that wrongdoing has been or is about to be committed is considered to be a disclosure under the Act, whether or not the subject matter constitutes wrongdoing. All disclosures receive careful and thorough review to determine if action is required under the Act, and must be reported in a department's annual report in accordance with section 18 of the Act.

The following is a summary of disclosures received by the Manitoba Labour Board for fiscal year 2011/12.

Golden Links Lodge - and - Manitoba Government and General Employees' Union - and - T.S.

Case No. 71/11/LRA

June 14, 2011

DUTY OF FAIR REPRESENTATION - TIMELINESS - Union submitted Employee unduly delayed filing duty of fair representation application - Board's practice not to entertain duty of fair representation complaint filed six to eight months beyond events referred to in complaint unless satisfactory explanation provided - Board found Employee became aware of alleged violation at union meeting held September 21, 2010 and application was filed March 14, 2011 - Board satisfied key event was communication from Employer to Employee on November 16, 2010 that she was being removed from casual list - Both events clearly fell within six month guideline - Substantive Order.

DUTY OF FAIR REPRESENTATION - Internal Union Affairs - Failure to process grievance - Employee's name removed from casual roster - She filed duty of fair representation application alleging Union representatives displayed indifferent attitude and ignored her request for help - Application cited complaints regarding events which transpired at union meetings related to election of local officers - Held internal union matters could not form basis of duty of fair representation complaint because section 20 of The Labour Relations Act only addressed standards of care which bargaining agent must follow when representing rights of employee under collective agreement - Also, within limited provisions of collective agreement as it related to casual employees, Union did pursue Employee's concerns - Except for specific provisions, collective agreement clearly did not apply to casual employees - Accordingly, no prima facie right to grieve nor to take issue to arbitration - Application did not plead or disclose concise statement on which Employee relied and which facts, if proven, would result in finding Union acted in arbitrary or discriminatory manner or acted in bad faith, under section 20 - Employee failed to establish prima facie - Application dismissed - Substantive Order.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE - Statutory declaration - Union submitted Application be dismissed on ground that statutory declaration sworn in support of Application did not satisfy Board's Rules of Procedure - Employee filed revised statutory declaration that was attached to new Application - Union submitted new Application constituted attempt to refile original Application - Board satisfied statutory declaration, as signed by Employee, was irregular as different person named as declarant - Board satisfied defect was technical irregularity and filing of new statutory declaration cured defect - Purpose of new Application was to perfect original Application, not intended to raise new grounds - Substantive Order.

APPLICATION FOR CERTIFICATION - APPROPRIATE BARGAINING UNIT - Community of Interest - Scope - Union applied for certification of surveillance technicians and surveillance supervisors unit - Board considered surveillance technicians and supervisors work independently, with little interchange with other staff - Also practice in gaming/casino industry was to separate surveillance units given nature of duties - Establishment of separate bargaining unit for surveillance technicians and supervisors was reflective of their distinct community of interest - Unit appropriate for collective bargaining - Certification granted - Substantive Order.

EVIDENCE – Admissibility - Union objected to use of two surreptitious tape recordings Employee made of meetings with Union's counsel and business representative - Board ruled tapes inadmissible since allowing tapes would encourage parties to distrust each other and would prolong proceedings due to necessity to adjudicate applications for admissibility of taped conversations.

DUTY OF FAIR REPRESENTATION - EVIDENCE – Privilege - Union raised issue whether solicitor-client privilege applied to communications between Employee and Union's solicitor – Board ruled no substantive solicitor-client relationship between Employee and lawyer as Union retained counsel and paid professional fees incurred - However, Section 20 imposed statutory duties on every person acting on behalf of bargaining agent when representing rights of employee under collective agreement which encompassed union's counsel - To find statements made by either union's counsel or other union representatives was inadmissible because only union could waive "solicitor-client" privilege would prevent employee from asserting material facts in support of his complaint against bargaining agent or "any person acting on behalf of the bargaining agent" - Board ruled Union could not claim solicitor-client privilege in respect of evidence Employee may introduce regarding his dealings with Union's counsel.

Held posted notices were clear - Purpose of mass meetings and how employees could obtain information and could vote were clearly defined - Provided bargaining agent reasonably met requirements of section 69 of The Labour Relations Act, low voter turnout could not be fulcrum for determination under section 70 as Act prescribes acceptance or rejection of collective agreement determined by majority of employees who actually cast ballots - Employees being on vacation or absent from work did not affect validity of vote – Fact voting venues and times changed from previous occasions not determinative of complaint - Beyond reasonableness standard, Act did not prescribe fixed criteria or rules for conduct of votes - Board was satisfied reasonable notice of vote was given and employees had reasonable opportunity to cast vote - Employee's complaint dismissed – Substantive Order.

SUMMARIES OF SIGNIFICANT COURT DECISIONS

Sterling O & G International Corporation –and - Director of Employment Standards Division
Court of Appeal of Manitoba
MLB Case No. 98/11/ESC
Docket No. AI 11-30-07673
Heard by Justice Freedman
Delivered February 17, 2012

The Director of the Employment Standards Division issued a notice of the Administrative Penalty for the Employer's non-compliance with a Production Order to produce certain records and information by January 24, 2011. The Board was not satisfied that the Employer had been properly served with the Production Order. As a consequence, it could not be satisfied that the Employer was aware of the issuance of the Production Order and ordered that the penalty be revoked. The Director sought leave to appeal the order the Board made setting aside the Administrative Penalty. The Director raised two issues. First, did the Board err when it revoked the Penalty without considering as relevant that the Employer had become aware of the Production Order in March 2011? Second, did the Board err in its interpretation of section 136 of The Employment Standards Code which related to service of documents? The Director argued that the Board disregarded relevant facts that arose after the date when, by the Production Order, the documents were to have been produced.

Held: The Board clearly knew when the Employer became aware of the Production Order, but concluded that the overriding consideration was that the Employer did not become aware of it until after the Penalty was issued. The court failed to see how the later awareness of the Production Order could somehow validate the Penalty, since it could not be sustained under section 138.1(1) of the Code. If the Board did disregard that evidence, it was not unreasonable for it to have done so. On the issue of whether the Board erred in its interpretation of section 136 of the Code, which related to service of documents, the Director was seeking leave to appeal, not the final decision of the Board, but the observations of the Board on alternative methods of service. There is no discrete right to appeal, with leave, the reasoning of the Board leading up to its final decision. The only matter that may be appealed, with leave, was the final decision itself. The Director conceded that the Production Order was not served on the respondent prior to the issuance of the Penalty. Therefore, the Director was challenging a decision, the essential foundation of which he ultimately accepted. The Court ruled there was no reasonable prospect of the Director successfully challenging the Order. Leave was denied.

MLB Case Nos. 107/10/LRA & 257/10/LRA
Docket No. CI 10-01-69255
Heard by Justice Dewar
Delivered March 1, 2012

The Employer applied for judicial review of a decision of the Manitoba Labour Board which certified the Union as the bargaining agent for a unit of firefighters. The Employer contended that the Board made its decision without addressing the Employer's position that the suggested bargaining unit was not appropriate for collective bargaining because the firefighters were only casual employees. In support, it relied upon a prior labour board decision in which a panel of the Board, although certifying a group of substitute teachers, expressed reticence about stand-alone units of casual employees being candidates for collective bargaining. The Employer requested the Board review its decision. One of the objections the Employer raised was that the Board's decision did not reflect any analysis on the issue of "substantial employment connection" and again cited the prior decision. The main ground of judicial review argued by the Employer was that it was entitled to have its position properly assessed by the Board, and an important argument the Employer advanced was not addressed, or not addressed properly.

Held: In its response to the application for review, the Board wrote that it did consider the prior case when it made its decision. In the first decision, the Board specifically referenced the fact that the firefighters were, in essence, casual employees. Therefore, the Board used those factors as well as the others which it had initially articulated to determine whether the firefighters were "employees", as well as the fact that the firefighters had a community of interest, in order to justify its decision that the proposed unit was an appropriate unit for collective bargaining. Upon a review of the first decision and the review decision read in light of the record before the court, the Board, certainly after receiving the Employer's application for review, if not before, was sufficiently aware of the position which the Employer advanced and simply did not agree with it. Not only did the outcome the Board pronounced fall within the range of reasonable outcomes, the Board's reasons logically supported it. The application for review was dismissed.

1 On August 29, 2008, the Board dismissed applications for certification in cases 480/07/LRA and 522/07/LRA. The dismissals were reviewed by an expanded panel of the Board. On April 8, 2008, the expanded panel determined the original panel should rehear the cases. After rehearing the matter, the panel granted certification on April 8, 2011. The number of certification cases carried over and the number granted, as shown above, include the two certificates in cases 480/07/LRA and 522/07/LRA.

2 An unfair application opened in 2009/10 was reclassified to section 20 case type. As a result, carried over figures do not match pending figures in the 2010/11 annual report.

3 When an Application for Certification is filed with the Board, changes in conditions of employment cannot be made without the Board's consent until the Application is disposed of.

4 Within the first 90 days following certification of a union as a bargaining agent, strikes and lockouts are prohibited, and changes in conditions of employment cannot be made without the consent of the bargaining agent. Applications under this section are for an extension of this period of up to 90 days.

5 Business coming under provincial law is bound by collective agreement

6 Extension of Time Limit for expedited decisions

7 See Table 3 for a breakdown of statistics relating to applications for referral for expedited arbitration.
